

BUTCHER IN MUNICH MURDERER OF AUER

Berlin Hears That Workmen Dominated by Spartans Incite Killing of Minister of Interior.

SCHNEID SUCCEEDS EISNER

Majority Socialist Named to Take Post of Minister of Interior—Town in Saxony Held by Reds.

By The Associated Press.
BERLIN, Monday, Feb. 24.—According to information obtained by the Vorwarts from a "member of the majority socialist in a responsible public position" the attempted assassination of Herr Auer, the Bavarian minister of the interior, was the work of the revolutionary workmen's council of Munich, which is wholly dominated by independent socialist and Spartans. The shooting of Auer is said to have been done by one Lindner, a butcher of Munich, who is openly boasting of his deed, but is still at liberty.

KOPENHAGEN, Feb. 25.—Herr Schneid has been named Bavarian premier in succession to Kurt Eisner, who was assassinated last week. Herr Begitz, a majority socialist, has been appointed Bavarian minister of the interior, succeeding Herr Auer, who was shot at Munich at the disorders there, according to Munich dispatches to the Politiken.

Advices from Berlin say armed sailors and unemployed civilians disarmed the military guard at Plauen, Saxony, seized the town hall, banks, postoffice and other public buildings. They then demanded the surrender of the barracks, which were turned over to them after negotiations.

The workmen of Munich returned to work yesterday and the street car lines were running, according to dispatches received here. Munich is generally quiet, but the state of siege continues.

In the Ruhr region work has been resumed at Mülheim, where the militia is maintaining order.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—The attempt of Bavarian Spartans to organize a revolution in Baden and establish a soviet government has failed, except at Mannheim, the energetic action of the Baden government, which immediately marched government troops into Karlsruhe, arrested radical leaders and proclaimed a state of siege having apparently killed the movement, according to advices received here.

The Mannheim outbreak, which is said to have been engineered by the Bavarian communist leader, Muehsam, was more successful than those elsewhere. The Spartans forces are still in possession of the city, which is cut off from the rest of the country.

Another item was added to the long list of robberies and hold-ups in the city when Mrs. John H. Souris, 215 West Ninth street, was robbed at the corner of Ninth and Cheyenne about 9:30 Tuesday night. The robber, a white man, pushed a revolver in the woman's face and took her purse, which contained about $15. The highwayman overlooked a diamond ring that Mrs. Souris was wearing.

The matter was reported to the police, but no arrest has been made.

PLAYS COMPOSITIONS WRITTEN BY HUSBAND

Mrs. McDowell Pleases With Interpretation of Works of America's Greatest Composer.

In the execution of her husband's compositions, the perfect interpretation of his spirit which she thoroughly understood, Mrs. McDowell submerged her own personality in the creative genius of McDowell, and gave to her audience inside glimpses of the life of America's greatest composer at the high school last night. So closely were the creator and the medium of reproduction allied, that dissimulation was impossible.

The first two numbers, sea songs, heard from his near-coast home, were soothing and produced a desirable relaxation in the minds of the listeners. And when the prelude came, that vigorous production of the composer's younger days, it fell upon concentrated and receptive minds. From that time the program developed in strength and beauty. Many times during the evening the cleverness of the performer's left hand was made evident. The agility of this member was outstanding. The best part of the recital came when the program was finished and the much wished for "Witches Dance" and "Kigadance" were played off brilliant and masterly style.

Previous to the concert Mrs. McDowell spoke at length on the McDowell memorial association, which has as its purpose the support of an estate where talented aspirants of the various arts may have isolation for concentrated and intensive efforts. This estate has been in use 11 years and has 15 studios in use in the summer.

The artist's manner in presenting her cause was frank and pleasing, and it was easy to imagine that a personality like hers might make practical this dream of the ideal.

The Hyeckla club brought Mrs. McDowell to Tulsa and, without charge, presented her to music lovers of the city.

World's Central Bureau, Skirmish Here.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 25.—Financial help for cities which are without means to repair paved streets is offered in a bill by Senator Eugene M. TAKES DAMAGE CLAIM INTO DISTRICT COURT

J. S. Walker, Who Fell Into Ditch, Continues Effort to Collect From City of Tulsa.

Damages in the sum of $75,000 are sought in a suit filed yesterday in the district court against the city of Tulsa and Comstock and Hansen by J. S. Walker for injuries he alleges he received on January 28 by falling into an open ditch in front of his home on North Elwood.

Walker claims that the ditch had been excavated during the day and did not have any danger signals in close proximity to it, that it was excavated during the day while he slept by defendants and that he did not know of its existence there until he fell into it.

He says that he is a night watchman at the Central National bank and sleeps in the day time, and avers that he was permanently injured because of the negligence of the defendants in not putting out the danger signals.

He also says that he presented his claim to the city for damages and that the same was disallowed by the commissioners.
